Later—Maybe

Some of our friends and neighbors are feeling like Little Orphan Annie since they have heard by the grapevine that sometimes extends over the hill that Monterey is to be all cleaned and prettied up and here in Carmel we go on being fuzzy around the edges with brush piles in our streets and vacant lots, and miscellaneous rubbish strewn here and there over our picturesque environment.

The Mayor says he's heard similar complaints and assures us there is a reason for the seeming neglect of the city in instituting a clean up drive. Suppose the street department should collect up all the brush and trash—where would they take it? Various tidy minded citizens, who have tried to hire truckers to haul away their private brush piles, have been faced with the same problem. There isn't any near-by place to dump brush. And that is why it continues to collect in town. Also, that is why the City Council and the Carmel Sanitary Board members have been meeting informally this week to work out a plan whereby an incinerator might be built on the Sanitary Disposal Plant property.

Meanwhile, until the incinerator is built or some other disposal arrangement made, the town will have to continue in its shaggy status quo. There isn't any point in gathering up brush when it can't be hauled away.

Info. Bureau War Moves on to Bout Between Lawyers

The Community Information Bureau issue, if it continues to be an issue, will have to be fought out in private session between Peter Ferrante, attorney for the city and Eben Whittesey, representing the Carmel Business Association. Such was the decree of Mayor P. A. McCreery late this week following the action of the City Council last Friday in denying the request of the Business Association for city funds to contribute to the partial support of the information bureau.

The "No" vote of the council was taken on the advice of City Attorney Ferrante who told the mayor that the city was not justified legally in giving assistance to the bureau. Whittesey insisted that he had additional information that led him to believe that city aid would be legal. The mayor, probably wishing to avoid a repetition of the bickering that had occurred at the Council meeting several weeks ago between Whittesey and Ferrante, said that Whittesey could present his information to Ferrante, and they would have to thresh it out between themselves before bringing it up before the Council again.

Of course, there is always the possibility that the Business Association may get tired of the whole business and decide to foot the bill for the bureau itself.

Tickle Cagey of Comment on Rumor Of Running Against Downey for U. S. Senate; Talks on Tax Bills

When the candidates line up for the U. S. Senatorial race next year, Edward H. Tickle, Senator to the California State Legislature from the 25th district, Republican, Carmel resident, may be the candidate chosen by his party members to oppose U. S. Senator Sheridan Downey.

Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento papers have been carrying rumors that Tickle is being considered as a possibility, but Senator Tickle told the Pine Cone Cymbal yesterday that the matter is in a nebulous state at the present moment. "The talk is by other people. I've never said anything about it. I'm busy looking after my own job."

Nevertheless, the Oakland Tribune in its issue of July 11, carried the following comment:

"For many years in California there was a political rule of thumb that members of the State Legislature could not be elected to Congress. Many of the members tried it from both northern and southern districts, but there were so many failures that State senators and assemblymen became cagey about seeking promotion along those lines. Last year, however, following re-appointment of the congressional districts in accordance with the 1940 census, three members of the Legislature were successful.

"Assemblymen Norris Poulson and Cecil King were elected as

Kay Boyle, Here in Carmel, Writes Of French Underground After Clipper Flight from 'Hungry' Occupied Europe

She stopped at the Harrison Memorial Library Tuesday, signed her application for a borrower's card, "Baroness Joseph von Frankenstein" and suggested that since she was no longer Mrs. Laurence Vail, the works listed under that name in the authors' catalogue in the main reading room might better be credited to Kay Boyle.

Since the last information about Kay Boyle was the story in the Eastern papers in 1941 to the effect that "the largest family unit ever to be transported by clipper" had been flown out of occupied France, and the family unit had consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Vail, their six children, four of hers and two of his by a former marriage, the Pine Cone got in touch with Miss Boyle.

Yes, there had been a divorce. Yes, she was now the wife of the Baron Von Frankenstein, an American citizen, a member of the distinguished Austrian family, a cousin to the Austrian ambassador to the Court of St. James. It had been two years now since that clipper flight from occupied France but she hadn't forgotten the "hunger—no milk for the children—the fear." Since her arrival in New York she had been busy writing short stories and Avalanche, a serial on the French underground movement, which will appear in the Saturday Evening Post in August. It will also

Much Adverse Criticism Comes from Critic's Effort to Prove Himself Greater Than Artist—Bruno Adriani

By IRENE ALEXANDER

An enthusiastic group of Carmel citizens gathered at the Hatton Fields home of the Misses von Kleinschmidt last Saturday afternoon to hear Bruno Adriani speak on the subject of Baudelaire and express appreciation of his lecture in terms of a substantial donation to the cause of the Fighting French Relief.

M. Adriani was introduced by Miss Ellen von Kleinschmidt and the results of his long and scholarly acquaintance with the life and works of this great French poet were given in the language of that same France for whose culture he has such a profound understanding and admiration.

Speaking of the life of Baudelaire, M. Adriani pointed out the almost unbearable miseries — of loneliness, lack of comprehension and affection, financial distress and painful disease which marked his short span of forty-six years. Of the artist Baudelaire who survived to leave a growing imprint upon French life and letters he gave a careful analysis, characterizing him as the discoverer of the modern soul, pointing out the influence of his work on Proust, his transcendence of mere emotional expression, the spiritual

Worn and Weary Councilmen Wage Tax Rate Battle

The Battle of the Tax Rate, now in its second week, is scheduled to reach its conclusion tonight when the City Council meets at 5:30 to accept its working budget and fix the rate for 1944 taxes.

With the expressed determination of reducing the tax rate if possible, keeping the rate at the 1943 level at worst, but under no

Peter Briggs

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Briggs, Jr., of Carmel, received the following telegram from the War Department on Saturday, July 17:

"Report received from the Japanese government through the International Red Cross states that your son, Corporal Peter D. Briggs, who was previously reported a prisoner of war, died in the Philippine Islands. The Secretary of War shares your grief and extends his deep sympathy. Letter follows. Signed Ulio, the Adjutant General."

Peter Briggs is a graduate of Sunset school, Monterey high school, and Salinas Junior college. He enlisted in the chemical warfare branch of the U. S. Army for service in the Philippines early in September of 1941. He arrived in the Philippines on October 24, 1941 and was stationed at Fort William McKinley, near Manila, until the war broke out. Several letters and ham radio messages were received up to December 22, 1941 at which time this last direct cable was received: "Don't worry. V for Victory. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. Love to all."

So far as is known, he participated in the fighting on Bataan, and during this period was made a corporal. From the fall of Bataan until January 22 of this year, Mr. and Mrs. Briggs knew only that he was missing. On January 22 they were officially notified through the War Department that he was a Japanese prisoner interned in the Philippines. No other word has been heard from or about him in the interim.

Mr. and Mrs. Briggs have two other sons, J. A. Briggs III, of Battle Creek, Michigan, and Edmund Briggs of Santa Monica, California. Edmund and his family came to Carmel as soon as they learned of the War Department message last Saturday.

Dufur Inducted Into Navy; P. D. On "Three Wheels"

Chief Roy Frates made the announcement yesterday that Wofford Dufur, for a year patrolman in the Carmel police department, was leaving Saturday for San Francisco for induction into the navy, adding gloomily, "Police Department will be going along on three wheels, now."

Dufur came here from Watsonville with his wife, Elizabeth, over three years ago, and after working for some time in the Dolores Grocery, joined the police force.

circumstances raising the rate above the 1943 level, the mayor, the city councilmen and City Clerk Peter Mawdsley in his capacity as financial advisor to the city have been meeting this week and last, looking for spots where they could use the axe on the budget.

After Wednesday's session in camera, the councilmen emerged with a discouraged air and unwillingness to predict what the outcome would be. One pessimistic member said that they may not be able to fix the tax rate at the meeting set for that purpose tonight, but may have to postpone action to have time for more work and study on the budget.

There are innumerable difficulties to paring down expenditures in any one department and new expenses in one department threaten to absorb the savings effected through economy in another. The street department, through labor and material shortages has been reduced to a skeleton that comes out to rattle only occasionally. But money saved in cutting down street department allotment would be absorbed through additional expenses in the police department through salary raises granted early this year. An argument against reducing the street department allotment too stringently arises in the fact that when men and material are available, the need for action will be immediate and money should be on hand for that purpose. The same is true of the sea wall. The seven cent sea wall tax has continued for two years building up a reserve of $6,000. There is little likelihood of any work being done on a sea wall under present conditions.

OUT OF SCHOOL NOTES

By HELEN COWAN WOOD

Sardine canning is our next big opportunity for community service this summer. Man and boy, woman and girl, everyone who is 16 or over is invited and urged to help out in the Peninsula's tremendous task of putting the fish into cans. Several high school boys and girls are already planning to join the group going over to the canneries and we will go over together. If you are not invited personally, please call 787 and let us know you are willing, able, and eager. The season begins August 1—let's have everyone roll up his sleeves and get to work.

The Tuesday night dance was a great success this week, with a crowd of about fifty young people. The committee very sagely put a premium on dating by making the admission price for couples less than for stags. This meant that there were more girls and boys who came with their own crowd, and a better time for all. Two more dances are planned for this season, both of them also at the Girl Scout house. The next will be Tuesday, August 3, and the last will be Saturday, August 14. Mark these in red on your calendar.

Eleteth McQuilkin will take over the pottery group next week at the usual time, Wednesday and Thursday, 1 to 4 o'clock. Mrs. Beygrau has hurt her arm and will not be able to go on with her popular and successful afternoons. We all missed the classes this week.

Many people have asked whether the high school tennis courts are open at other than the scheduled time. Yes, they are. Anyone is welcome to use the courts at any time. You are asked to take care of them by always wearing tennis shoes. Next week will be the last week of regular instruction under David Marrs, and those who wish to get some professional help will need to be sure to get up there soon—Monday or Wednesday from 1 to 4.

The Junior Red Cross group hopes to persuade some of those girls who have been taking tennis lessons to play at another time after next week and join the production corps, which meets at the same time. If eight or ten girls turn out the good quantity of hospital materials which have been finished regularly, could be twenty girls would do twice as much. And anyone will agree that would be worthwhile. The regular girls have been sewing pretty long shifts and would like to be able to take turns at the machines.

Tomorrow's bird walk will be down to the river mouth. Both children and adults who are interested are invited to join the group, which meets at Sunset school at 10 o'clock. Those who have bicycles may bring them for this trip; as Laidlaw Williams explained last Saturday, this is the most unfavorable time of the year for observing the land birds, since they are moulting and have lost both color and spirit. The trip last week out to Point Lobos was delightful, both for the birds and for the pleasure of being in the park again after the long period when it was closed because of military installations. Mr. Williams had both field glasses and telescope so that we could observe the birds on nearby rocks; oyster catcher, guillemot, cormorant, pelican, gull. The best observation point was at China Cove. Among those who went on the trip were summer visitors Edith Stebbins, Jennefer Lloyd, and Skipper Lloyd—all of whom have scientists in the family. Others in the crowd were Elton Clark, Peter Lyon, Nancy Poklen, Jeff Poklen, Alice Ferrante, and a few interested adults.

Guest Tickets for C. M. S. Concert Available Now

Carmel Music Society members are looking forward to hearing the baritone, John Laurence, on Sunday afternoon, August 1, when the United States Navy deck-hand will be presented as the Society's guest artist following the annual meeting in the Music Room of the Carmel high school.

John Laurence considers music his life work, expecting to return to it after the war. His radio broadcasts over the Blue Network have gained him national fame, to which his concerts have added.

With Harriett Prutsman at the piano, Mr. Laurence will sing the following program for the Carmel Music Society on August 1: Laciateri Morire, Monteverdi; Che Fiero Costume, Legrenzi; Alma Mia, Handel; Tu Lo Sai, Torelli; Aufenthalt, Schubert; Der Tod und das Madchen, Schubert; Du bist wie eine Blume, Schuman; Ich grolle nicht, Schumann; Steal Away, Fisher; Every Time I Feel the Spirit, Fisher; Were You There, Burleigh; Honor, Honor, Burleigh; O Men from the Fields, Herbert Hughes; Cossacks Lullaby, Bachmetieff; Fulfillment, S. ## McCreery, Weer Head Carmel's War Chest Drive

Mayor P. A. McCreery and Lloyd Weer will direct Carmel's share in the nation-wide Community and War Chest campaign to be held within the next few months to raise funds for the support of 16 war-connected agencies in addition to the usual Community Chest member groups.

McCreery and Weer accepted memberships on the campaign committee for this area this week and will serve as assistants to Major Roland P. Prentys who is campaign manager for the entire Peninsula region. Major Prentys was appointed a few days ago by the Community and War Chest committee and immediately began work on perfecting details of a campaign organization.

"Since persons living in the Carmel area usually contribute more than one-third of the quota in the annual Community Chest drive, we are counting heavily on this source for a substantial portion of the new unified campaign," Mayor McCreery stated.

"It will be no easy job to raise this money but a very important one since giving is as much a part of winning the war as fighting and working. Some 60,000,000 persons will receive some degree of aid from the services financed through the drive."

Further plans of the campaign committee will be announced later.

Model Fliers Show Original Work at Recreation Meet

By MALCOLM WHITMAN, JR.

Until Friday of last week most of the model airplane flying at the Recreation Program meeting (Mondays and Fridays at 10 a.m. at Sunset school, north yard) had been done either with ready built planes or small models from the hand of the instructor.

But on Friday Chuck Roeth showed up with a flying scale Curtiss Robin model entirely of his own construction, and proceeded to demonstrate several rise off the ground flights and adequate landings. The model, colored red with yellow wings, had a white propeller of Chuck's preparation from a sawed blank and by this was pulled to a "first" in successful flyings in the class.

At the same meeting Treat Arnold very successfully demonstrated land launched glider flight with his glider to the "Kievi" design of Harry Eisinger, the glider wisely and handsomely colored in orange and black, which is easy to see and desirable on a type which ranges around a bit. Treat followed the usual practice of weighting the nose of his glider with modelling clay, and only after the meet, departed from the plans, adding a towing hook and the practice of "high start," first popularized in this country by Frank Zaic.

To Chuck Roeth went another "first" or milestone flight. At the Monday meeting, using the same white propeller as on his Curtiss Robin, he showed a simple stick model, but an original design, featuring a motor hanger arrangement in the rudder and a "gulled" wing. The design was considered by those interested in design to have too much fin area, but as Chuck handled and flew the model this was not shown conclusively to be a defect in his design, which also had "upthrust."

To the Monday meeting Kendall Hirtley brought a low-wing job, colored silver, which particularly deserves mention because the work on the propeller was good and promises that Kendall will soon be chasing his own flying work.

The Recreation Program interest has taken hold in its own right, and any more advanced modeler with something of interest in his way with model airplanes to show may be assured that he would surely find at a meeting an interest which is very much alive as well as aviating past milestones on its own.

GRANDSON FOR MRS. POKLEN

Word comes by wire this week to Mrs. Ervin C. Poklen of Carmel that her first grandson, Gordon De Moe, was born on Saturday, July 17, to Lt. (j.g.) and Mrs. Earl De Moe of Dallas, Tex., where Lt. De Moe is at present serving as naval air instructor and awaiting his call into transport duty. Young Gordon's aunt, Babette De Moe, is also in Texas, training for the Women's Auxiliary Ferrying Service.

Two Carmel Troops At Camp Esselen

A number of Carmel Boy Scouts attended this year's encampment, held from June 12 to July 11 at Camp Esselen, in Big Sur state park, helping to make this the highest attendance since 1940. 283 different Scouts and 20 different adult leaders from the counties of Monterey, San Benito and Santa Cruz participated in the program, according to the report made by Everett Smith, member of the council's camp committee.

Tickle Cagey on Candidacy Rumor; Talks on Taxes

"These successes have resulted in renewed interest on the part of other state legislators, and it now appears there will be a record number of candidates next year from this field for seats in Congress and for the office of United States Senator. Two members of the state senate, Jesse Mayo of Angels Camp and Clair Engle of Red Bluff, are already candidates for the congressional vacancy in the 2nd district at a special election to be held next month. And two other members of the upper house are being mentioned as candidates to oppose U. S. Senator Sheridan Downey next year. One is Jack B. Tenney, Democrat from Los Angeles, and the other is Edward H. Tickle, Republican from Carmel."

Tickle's third term as State Senator expires in 1944, rounding out twelve years' representation of the 25th district, Monterey and San Benito Counties. Much of his activities in the Senate have been concerned with serving on budget and finance and tax committees. His Legislature Budget Bureau which he worked out two years ago has been so successful that a similar bureau has been adopted by the State of Utah, and there is consideration of setting one up for the U. S. Congress.

His comment on the work of the last Legislature was not unalloyed enthusiasm for the tax reduction measures. He said it is a peculiar tendency of government to reduce taxes when people have plenty of money and raise them when money is scarce. He is concerned about post war employment. With 900,000 out of state defense workers, in addition to the great number of local residents who have trained themselves for war-time jobs, he fears a heavy drain on the State unemployment insurance fund when war time industries are closed down. He believes funds should be built up now for post war construction to provide employment. "But perhaps there is no unemployment problem in the offing. Nevertheless, I'd rather go on a wild goose chase, than wish I had gone on one."

His alertness for the interests of his own constituents was exemplified in his telegrams of warning sent to key people in this county when the bill board measure was slipped through. For years he has been a leader in the fight to prevent the encroachment of billboards on scenic roads but, "this time they were too strong for us." Acting on his warning voters in the county carried on the campaign of letters to the governor who finally vetoed the bill.

"I do not know about the literary value of Avalanche," she said "but I'll vouch for its accuracy. I have checked and re-checked with friends in New York who were active in the underground movement in France before their escape to America. I knew them in France and I knew many like them. And I knew the underground movement."

She has rented a house in Carmel on Twelfth and Camino Real, but she does not intend to remain long. She will be returning soon to New York. But she will come back to Carmel. She doesn't know when. Her plans are indefinite. Only thing certain is that she will be traveling, and traveling is a natural state of affairs with her.

She was born in St. Paul, Minn. in 1903 and was taken on her first trip to France when she was six months old. She speaks of her "sketchy" schooling in Philadelphia, Atlantic City and Cincinnati where she attended the Conservatory of Music. In 1921 she married a Frenchman, Richard Brault, in New York and went to Europe in 1922 where she remained until the flight home in 1941.

She has lived in France, in Austria, and for two years in England. In 1931 she divorced Brault and married Laurence Vail, an American artist and writer. By this time she had achieved recognition as a writer and poet. Critics, speaking of her said: "Intellectuality is the note of her work, and she has been called the most unaccountably brilliant of our short story writers and novelists, while her poetry may be described as wayward and suggestive. Her recurrent theme is that of youth faced with disease and death, and her presentation is brief and stark. Her intellectual variety has never obscured her fundamental tenderness, humor, and spirit, and her native sense of obligation in craftsmanship. She is a bold experimenter in technique, and she is bound to be interesting, as even her failures are spectacular."

The excellence of her work as a short story writer won for her the O. Henry award for "The White Horse of Vienna," her proficiency as a poet led to a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1934 for the study required on an epic poem on aviation, work that is still in progress.

She likes to travel, meet odd people, and play chess. Her preference in reading goes first to poetry, then to accounts of arctic exploration and achievements in aviation. Between writing stints she has found time to indulge her favorite activity, mountain climbing and to become skilled as a horsewoman.

Dark, with wide-spread, intelligent eyes, a broad, handsome mouth and a brisk manner of speech she gives the impression of one who generally knows what she is about, one who never has to grope.

Warshawsky Show Next at Gallery

The next one-man oil exhibit to be held at the Carmel Art association gallery will consist of paintings by Abel G. Warshawsky, internationally known artist whose works have highlighted many showings here since he and Mrs. Warshawsky came to make their home on the Peninsula.

About 20 canvases will be included in the exhibit which opens on August 1st in the Beardsley Memorial room at the gallery: portraits and landscapes, only one or two of which have been shown here previously. They are for the most part results of his Monterey work; others, painted in France, were exhibited this past spring at Gump's in San Francisco.

Ration Books Go To Hospital with Entering Patients

Individuals seeking admission to the hospital must see to it that Ration Books 1 and 2 are packed in the suitcase, according to a new government ruling received by the Monterey Peninsula Community Hospital and now in effect.

The new regulation reads as follows:

"Any patient taking more than seven meals in any hospital is required to deposit his Ration Books 1 and 2 with the hospital for the period he remains. Upon leaving, the patient's books are returned to him and the hospital deducts the necessary stamps prescribed by the ruling. These stamps are not used by the hospital, but are turned in to the Ration Board."

LIONS TAKE TO WOODS

Carmel Lions Club held their dinner meeting around the M. J. Murphy barbecue pit up Carmel Valley on the invitation of the owner last Tuesday night.

Entertainment was furnished by a Sailor Hill Billy Band. In charge of "eats" were: Gene Ricketts, Fred Goss and Carl Bensberg.

Miss McKinstry on Vacation

Miss K. Helen McKinstry, director of the Carmel USO, left this week for a month's vacation. Her place will be filled during her absence by Irma Graham.

Carmel Girl Admires Another Local Girl's Show in Washington

Ensign Barbara Wood, USNR, who made a permanent place for herself in the affections of Carmel while she served on the staff of the Harrison Memorial library and is now holding a WAVE post in the Administrative offices at Washington, D. C., took time off from her duties this month to attend an exhibit of Alison Stilwell's Chinese Art at the Connecticut avenue United War Relief Center there.

So impressed was Ensign Barbara by the showing, she sent to the Pine Cone Cymbal the following excerpt from the Washington Evening Star of July 4:

"Because of the sustained interest in the Chinese art exhibit which includes the paintings of Miss Alison Stilwell, daughter of Lt. General Joseph W. Stilwell, the exhibit is being held over an additional week.

"Despite the recent heat, attendance at the exhibit has mounted steadily during the regular week day hours of 10 until 5 o'clock. Evening hours have been arranged on several occasions to accommodate employed people and the center again will be opened Tuesday evening from 6 until 8:30 o'clock.

"Miss Stilwell's paintings are unusual in that this young artist is generally conceded to be the only Westerner to master the technique of traditional Chinese brush painting. A number of her paintings now on view at the exhibit have been purchased and Miss Stilwell has donated all the proceeds to United China Relief."

Professional Acts For Barndoor Show At USO Saturday

Entertainment of first class professional standard was furnished at the Carmel Barn Door Canteen last Saturday evening.

Gladys Young, the acclaimed "Nedda" in Pagliacci of the San Francisco Opera company, sang Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life and Vilia, following the enthusiastically received numbers with an impersonation of Fritzi Scheff rendering Kiss Me Again.

Peggy Rees, once a leading dancer with the Myra Kinch Ballet, making a farewell appearance before departing on foreign Red Cross service, performed an exciting version of an old Spanish folk dance.

Also appearing on the program, through the courtesy of Captain MacDonald and Sgt. Swann of the Monterey Presidio, were Pvt. Henry Clay Landstrom, banjoist formerly with the orchestras of Meredith Wilson and Eddie Peabody, and Pvt. Henry Tomei, accordionist. Private Tomei has recently been inducted into the army from the orchestra of Xavier Cougat. Both men contributed solos, later performing a duet.

Saturday night's Angels' Roost was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. Jensen, Mrs. Marie Short and her guests: Frances Ferrer, Cynthia

Board Approves $138,175 Budget For Local Schools

A budget providing for the expenditure of $138,175 was approved, subject to public hearing, by the Carmel Unified school district trustees at their board meeting held Friday night at the high school.

An increase of $5,500 allowance for teachers' salaries, and $1,600 for salaries of other employees was balanced by a reduction of the allowance for capital outlay, so that the total this year is the same as last, and the tax rate will probably be the same, 82 cents on the $100.

A public hearing on the budget will be held on Friday, August 6 at 7:15 in the board room at the high school at which time Peter Mawdsley, school board accountant, will answer any questions on the budget that local tax payers may see fit to ask.

Williams, Valentine Miller, Florence Gantner and Rosemary Meston.

Bergdorff, McGlynn, Warshawsky Pictures Cheer Service Men

Among the artists who have generously permitted their paintings to be inducted into the service of our wounded soldiers are Abel Warshawsky and Thomas McGlynn, members of the Carmel Art association. Paintings by these two men now hang in the Fort Ord recreation room for the mentally ill, aiding in the process of rehabilitation.

Another Carmel artist who has not only lent pictures but given liberally of his skill as an instructor is Ferdinand Bergdorff. Mr. Bergdorff conducts a class in sketching for service men at Fort Ord on Friday evenings.

During the past week a request has come to the Carmel Art Gallery for paintings by Carmel artists to be hung in the Red Cross library of the Salinas Air Base.

"Manpower at home is essential to support fighting-power overseas" ... E. G. Grace, president, Bethlehem Steel

Thousands of men arriving for work in a Bethlehem shipyard. Down this yard's busy shipways slide many of the nation's cruisers, destroyers and aircraft carriers. Bethlehem repeatedly has made records for delivering vessels well ahead of schedule.

This is the story of manpower in Bethlehem steel mills and shipyards, of men and women who have come by the thousands from all walks of life to do a job in backing up our fighting forces with a continuous flood of materials. These men and women are vital to the battle of production.

Manpower at Bethlehem Steel has been multiplied three times in three and a half years. Here are the figures:

NUMBER OF BETHLEHEM EMPLOYEES

Poland invaded, September 1939 100,000
Fall of France, summer 1940 120,000
Pearl Harbor, December 1941 190,000
Tunisia, May 1943 290,000

Facts About Bethlehem Workers

Manpower is the heart of Bethlehem's current production of a ship a day. Manpower makes possible the meeting of its large commitments for ordnance and other war-steel products. All other problems such as materials and supplies are secondary — the essential dependence is on manpower.

Thousands of men from non-essential trades are joining Bethlehem war-work armies. More than 13,000 women are employed at Bethlehem plants and shipyards, and the number is constantly increasing.

Veteran employees are zealously teaching the newcomers, so that they can quickly handle their appointed tasks.

New employees learn to work in Bethlehem's training classes and in on-the-job training. Sympathetic study of each person's abilities puts "square pegs in square holes."

Wages are the highest in the history of shipbuilding and steel, and in the top group of all industries.

Promotion is rapid, as opportunity to advance comes far more swiftly than under normal conditions.

Bethlehem employees are friendly, high-grade people. The great majority have education in the high school grades, and thousands are graduates of colleges, crafts and professions. More than 50,000 Bethlehem employees are now serving in the armed forces, a fact which gives added seriousness of purpose to those working to produce the supplies.

To work in Bethlehem shipyards and plants is to be in the front line of industry, doing a real job to help win the war.

Employment in Bethlehem's shipbuilding and ship repair yards alone has grown from 15,000 in 1939, to nearly 180,000.

The enlistment in our manpower army continues from week to week and from month to month. The total of Bethlehem employees will exceed 300,000 by the end of the year. To reach this total force; and provide for replacements of those going into the armed services and others, many thousands more men and women will be hired.

FROM ALL OCCUPATIONS

Bethlehem workers come from virtually every walk of life to serve in these war-work armies. Here are 60 instances of former occupations of men and women who are now producing ships and combat materials.

PLANNING TODAY FOR TOMORROW'S WORLD

By CHARLOTTE K. CLARK

"We must do what has never been done before," Peter Druckner, the Austrian economist, remarked on the first evening of this summer's Institute of International Relations at Mills College. Our peril is very great, and even as we are struggling to carry on great military operations across two oceans, we must find time and energy to plan for the peace, or we can virtually lose the war on this third or internal front, he said.

More than 400 people, most of whom are residents of Northern California, attended the lectures and discussions presided over by a faculty of twenty men and women representing various countries and a wide range of point of view. "Planning Today for Tomorrow's World" was the theme. One day was devoted to the problems of the Far East. On others, the European situation was outlined. The picture presented was of a desperately sick world, and there was complete agreement on the impossibility of isolating ourselves from it. Walter Lippmann's latest book, "U. S. Foreign Policy" which emphasizes the latter point, was recommended, while all the leaders at the Mills conference urged our need of faith in other peoples, and our need for scientific attitudes. There was a conviction that peace must be redemptive but not punitive. We must not forget that we are partly responsible for the plight of the world.

Martin Hall, a German who has been in this country for six years and who covered the underground movement in Germany from 1933 to 1936 for the Manchester Guardian, said that first the German people must experience the shock of a complete military defeat, and that then the victors could assist at the painful birth of a Germany, almost forgotten, but one that still exists. The democracies must open the doors of the world to those peoples who have been forced to live in a vacuum, but they must remember that they have no monopoly on the export of re-education. We might wisely replace military attaches by cultural attaches. Newspapers and radios must be brought back. We must understand the great spiritual hunger that will exist after years of distrust between parents and children, between friend and friend, for fear of the gestapo at 5 a.m. We must remember that German children have been educated for death, have been taught to say, "We thank the Fuehrer for the hard life he has given us." Nazi teachers will have to be removed and we will have to supervise the doing away with the distortions of science, but the people will hate us unless we give them responsibility. For the United Nations to undertake to rewrite all German textbooks would indicate a complete psychological misunderstanding. We must seek out and show confidence in those who can help in building a new spirit in Europe.

In the same spirit Dermot McDermot laid down three premises that we must proceed on after the defeat of Japan. First, we will have to rehabilitate Japan. Second, Japan must work out her own destiny. We can inspire but not direct. Third, Japan will seek revenge, and we must be on guard against it. Mr. Galen Fisher remarked, "Aren't you touched by Madame Chiang Kai Shek's magnanimity with justice?" He said we must give Japan a chance to prosper but not to profit, and laid down seven conditions of government in Japan, which included the unconditional surrender of Japan, the punishment of the guilty leaders, the immediate set-up of a reform civilian regime to avoid the martyr complex, the subordination of the army and navy to civilian authority, the preservation of the Imperial House, the carrying out of the Atlantic Charter with equal economic opportunities for all peoples, and the end of colonial exploitation.

LINES WRITTEN ON HEARING THAT BACH IS STILLED

Bach stilled!
No, not Bach . . .

From ocean's bombard, bourdon, trumpet—
From her arpeggic roll on sandy beach or rock-cleft shore—
From sighing winds through fragrant pines—
From the lilt of birds and the chatter of squirrels—
From these, to us who know him in the surge of fugue, concerto, cantata, chorale,
Comes the whispering chant of a thousand gladsome
voices,

"Jubilate! Jubilate! The Cantor is not stilled!"
To find in our rejoicing hearts the echo,
"Gloria Dei! Bach cannot be stilled!"

—CHARLES DOWDELL

GREAT-AUNT REBECCA

She lives in a hidden valley,
In a cabin of pine and fir,
And all of the lupin and all of the snow
Belong to her.

She has not won them quickly,
But for eighty years and more,
She's waded through the snow-drifts
That cover the valley floor.

For fourscore years she's wandered,
Where singing winds have sown
The meadows rich with lupin,
And now they are her own.

Her eyes are purple flowers,
Her hair a drift of white,
This woman cool and fragrant,
Upon a mountain height.

Her days are filled with patience,
Knowing how soon she'll go
To lie beneath the lupin,
To sleep beneath the snow.

—KATHRYNE E. SCOVILLE

STEEL GARDENS RISING

This tower of steel,
Built swiftly,
In the glare of day,
Noisily.

The temple of God,
Built slowly,
In dark hours,
Silently.

—CHARLES BALLARD

REVIEWS

The importance of defining our peace aims was emphasized by various speakers. Haridas Muzumdar from India, a biographer of Gandhi, decried the empire system as a denial of self-government and of civil liberties, and pointed out that it was partly based on a superiority complex. He mentioned contributions made by all races and colors to the culture of mankind, and said that we can live as good neighbors only as we know of the value of our neighbors. Hiram Motherwell spoke of our fundamentally good relations with Great Britain in spite of the fact that the area of imperialism is still unsettled. In South America and the Far East we need to clear up this situation in order to secure co-operation.

In dealing with our relations with Russia, Harold Fisher of Stanford University urged that we adopt a 5th Freedom or freedom from suspicion of those who are fighting for the same things that we are. As an authority on Russia, he maintains that the enigma of Russia is simply the fact that she wants security for building a socialistic state in a capitalistic world. The United Nations must recognize the Soviet as a great power, and state socialism as a respectable and legitimate form of government. He says that Britain and Russia have decided that they can live together, that Russia has decided that she can live with us, so we are the only ones left to make up our minds. Mr. Motherwell reported that President Roosevelt says that we have no large area of disagreement with Russia though she may take Finland, the Baltic states and East Poland. These were called natural frontiers which contain strategic bases needed for security, and in certain instances, plebiscites would be in favor of Russia, since they belonged to Russia before the Revolution. After the war Russia will need help in the rehabilitation of the invasion zone as it is her most fertile area and that where most metals were produced.

In discussing the general subject of the strategy of Relief and Reconstruction Karl Brandt, economist at the Food Research Institute at Stanford University, said that the American people's humanity is only equalled by the British concern for post-war relief and the healing of wounds not inflicted by them. He indicated that relief was also an economic, political and military necessity, but that we must only supplement the resources available on the other continents. He thinks that it is wisest to adopt a cool, business attitude and to make every effort to cooperate with those needing relief to help them to help themselves. He insisted that it was more important to ship feed for livestock, seed and farm implements, than to send livestock and meat, if we would change from relief to reconstruction in as short a time as possible. Others, including Irwin Abrams, plead for carrying on relief with more emphasis on love and good will. Hiram Motherwell decried an American flag on every sandwich.

As the arguments flew on police power, the elimination of unemployment, as panel discussions continued on plans for world organization within the scope of democracy, Hiram Motherwell came forth with an encouraging and constructive point of view. As the Columbia Broadcasting System have him on the staff of their post-war division, in the fall we may be hearing some of the programs that he has had a part in arranging. He pointed out that our government is doing a magnificent and constructive job toward peace as indicated by Sumner Welles' announcement of the revolutionary "cooling-off policy," by our lend-lease policy which will leave no large inter-governmental debts to plague us after the war, by the Interim Commission on Food as set up by the recent Food Conference and by the tentative plans for Post War currencies which set the atmosphere free for full discussion. He claims that the future government

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Next Sunday: 8:00 a.m.—Service of the Holy Communion. Celebrant: the Right Reverend Karl M. Block, D.D. Bishop of California. At 11:00 a.m. Morning Prayer with Sermon message by the Rev. A. E. Clay. Offertory Solo: "The Voice in the Wilderness," J. P. Scott. Soloist, Arch W. Leonard. Your favorite hymns will be part of this service of worship. Organ selections will include the Adagio from the Second Symphony of Schumann, "Prayer"—Schubert and a Handel Postlude with Alice Lee Keith at the organ. Visitors to Carmel and especially the men in the armed forces and their families are invited to come and worship in this House of Prayer for All People.

CHURCH OF THE WAYFARER

"Facing the Impossible" will be Dr. Crowther's sermon theme next Sunday morning at the Church of the Wayfarer. As we face our world responsibilities for the coming years we are overwhelmed with a sense of its magnitude and of our ineptitude. But the "impossible" has been achieved in the past, and will be accomplished in the future. To attempt anything less is to betray our heritage from the past and our duty to the future. The organ music, with Elinor Smith as guest organist, will be as follows: "Prelude," Wagner; "Supplication," Asper; "Lento," Beethoven; "Largo," Handel. The service is from eleven to twelve; visitors are cordially invited.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"It is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth." These words from I John comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, July 25, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Scientist, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Truth."

Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Blessed is that man that maketh the Lord his trust, and respecteth not the proud, nor such as turn aside to lies. . . . Sacrifice and offering thou didst not desire; . . . I will worship toward thy holy temple, and praise thy name for thy lovingkindness and for thy truth." (Ps. 40: 4, 6 to ; 138: 2 to :).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "To seek Truth through belief in a human doctrine is not to understand the infinite. . . . The understanding of Truth gives full faith in Truth, and spiritual understanding is better than all burnt offerings," (p. 286).

Coach R. C. Rudd Accepts Carmel High Offer by Wire Saturday

The new coach for the Carmel high school will be Rudolph C. Rudd, now employed at Mather Field, Sacramento as director of civilian training. He was elected at a meeting of the board of trustees of the Carmel Unified school district on Friday evening and accepted by wire on Saturday.

Rudd has studied at Stanford University, is a graduate of San Francisco State Teachers college, has seven years' experience as teacher and athletic director, and has taken part in all the major sports as an undergraduate student, and coached all of them in his work.

He played on the varsity football team of San Francisco State for three years, the varsity track team for three years, swam, played basketball, and took part in numerous student activities. He has also been a Boy Scout leader, coached Y.M.C.A. basketball teams, been coordinator of civilian training for the army air corps at Mather Field, and has worked for the Matson Navigation company.

He will bring his wife and small son to Carmel early in September in order to get all the gym equipment and playing fields in the best of shape, and to get acquainted with the boys who will be playing for Carmel high school this fall.

of the world is now in the making, provided Congress does not succeed in sabotaging the administration's efforts. He considers the playing of party politics by Congress at this crucial time disgraceful.

George Hedley of Mills College suggested that we stop electing Congressmen on local issues. Buell Gallagher, President of Talladega College, said it behooved us to lessen racial tensions, but pointed out that they were being increased even in this country. He reminded us that the notion of the white man's supremacy is only 100 years old, and we are outnumbered by four-fifths of the world. Many times we were warned of the danger of relaxing war-time controls too soon after the fighting ceases. Several speakers felt that no soldier should be demobilized until a job was ready for him. George Hedley urged us not to be "suckers for normalcy" and showed the vicious pattern by which totalitarianism could be brought in by the advocates of free enterprise. Mr. Motherwell concluded that democracy is greater than its parts, and that it does get results though too often in a cumbersome manner. A. J. Muste reminded us that it is important to do as much creative work as possible, now, as great things are best done in danger.

Gerald Ray Arrives At Training Post in Looking Glass Country

Word was received here this week that Gerald P. Ray, son of Mrs. J. H. Neikirk, has arrived at the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command Post at Scott Field, Ill., where he will receive a course in radio operating and mechanics to prepare him for duty as a member of a bomber crew.

Scott Field is located six miles from Belleville, Ill., in the "Looking Glass Country," immortalized by Charles Dickens. Formerly a training ground for aviators in World War I, it is now devoted to training radio operators and mechanics.

A Meal Nutritionally Right for Summer Days

JUST as you wear summer-weight clothes to feel fit and comfortable, try light weight, nutritionally right meals. Such a meal would be a Victory Garden Salad Bowl. Fresh-picked leafy-green vegetables, crispy radishes, firm tomatoes, pungent onions and other vegetables, crispy-chilled in your refrigerator and then tossed till all are coated with a fresh-mixed salad dressing. Ah, there is a summer meal that is crunchy, satisfying eating.

HERE is a great secret to it all! Harvest just what you need and no more for a brimming salad bowl. Waste no minutes in putting your Victory Garden plucking right into your refrigerator. There's a secret. Wash it your way. Your dependable refrigerator will see to that, especially if you have kept it cleaned and oiled and in good repair. But if your refrigerator is not working just right—and you can't remedy it, tell your refrigerator repair dealer about it. He'll be glad to advise you.

VICTORY SALAD BOWL

1/2 head lettuce broken into 1 1/2 inch pieces
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tomatoes, cut in eighths
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup sliced radishes
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 clove finely chopped garlic

VICTORY DRESSING

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons vinegar
Mix salt, pepper and paprika in salad bowl with 1 tablespoon salad oil. Then add remaining oil and vinegar and blend well with fork. Add salad vegetables and toss. Serves 6 to 8 persons.

THESE SUMMER MONTHS is the time when Victory Garden crops will be producing bountifully. Do not waste any of this fine, fresh food. Have salads in variety. Serve quick-cooked vegetable plates. And when a garden row of vegetables becomes depleted, start digging anew and planting anew for crop rotations right through late summer, fall and winter. You will be surprised how it will cut down your food bills too!

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Watson of Ardmore, Oklahoma are at present visiting their daughter, Mrs. Don Wilson, now a resident of Carmel during the overseas service of her husband, Captain Don Wilson, U. S. Army. Mrs. Wilson and her parents have just returned from a trip south.

Here from Washington

Mrs. Louise Wilson Dunwell of Washington, D. C., where she is employed in the Department of the Interior, spent a few days in Carmel this week, on holiday with Mr. Dunwell, at present manager of an Atherton estate. Mrs. Dunwell is the author of two books of verse: Mountain Symphony and Shadows of Beauty.

Mrs. Flavin at Home

Mrs. Martin Flavin is once more at home in Carmel Highlands, after accompanying her daughter, Cornelia Schuman, to Berkeley, where she is now enrolled as a student at the University of California.

To Highlands for Summer

Mrs. Russell Williams (the former Cynthia Criley) and the three Williams children—Marian, Richard and John, have returned to their Carmel Highlands home in order to escape the summer heat of Las Vegas, where Dr. Williams is at present stationed.

Holiday Trip Saddened

The two weeks' vacation trip in Lake county planned by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tocher was saddened by the death of Mr. Tocher's father at his home there last week, following a long illness. Their younger son, Don Tocher, 17-year-old honor student from Harvard, now attending the University of California Naval ROTC, was able to make the trip to Lake county for the funeral services and a brief visit with his parents. Bill Tocher, the elder son, is now training for his wings at the Will Rogers Air Field in Oklahoma.

Rev. Crowther to S. F.

Dr. James E. Crowther, pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer, paid a brief visit to San Francisco this week, leaving on Monday and returning to Carmel on Wednesday.

Mora-Peterson Wedding

In a simple wedding ceremony, performed by Rev. James E. Crowther at the Church of the Wayfarer and attended only by immediate members of their two families, Clyde Peterson of Oakland and Jo Mora, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jo Mora of Pebble Beach, were married on Thursday morning, July 15.

Present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Swick of Oakland, parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Jo Mora, Sr., and Mrs. Russell Janzan, the former Patty Mora, sister of the groom. Mr. Swick gave his daughter in marriage and Jo Mora was best man for his son. Following the ceremony a wedding luncheon was held at Del Monte Lodge.

The new Mrs. Jo Mora, Jr., and her parents have been friends of the Mora family for many years. A graduate of Castileja school, she attended the University of California and accompanied the Mora family on their round-the-world trip in 1938.

Jo Mora, Jr., who served as his father's business manager for several years, is now employed at the Hammond Aircraft corporation in South San Francisco. After a brief honeymoon in Santa Barbara, the young couple will reside in Burlingame.

Promotion for Ensign Lane

Lawrence W. Lane, now public relations officer for the Navy at Treasure Island, after serving in a like capacity at the naval base in Monterey, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant (j.g.). He and his bride of six months, the former Barbara Albertson, will spend his three-day furlough next week at Quail Hollow, the Lane summer home in the Santa Cruz mountains, where they will be joined by Mrs. Lane's mother, Mrs. Ed Albertson, and her sister, Natilee.

Myers Family on Peninsula

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Myers and their two children have arrived from Cincinnati to spend the summer in their Pacific Grove home. Mr. Myers, a member of the Carmel Art association and a frequent exhibitor in the gallery here, is an instructor in the Cincinnati Art Academy. During the past winter he has had three eastern showings of his marine paintings, in each exhibit finding no less than seven purchasers for his canvases.

Lee Crowe Back from Hollywood

Lee Crowe returned over the past weekend from a ten day trip to Hollywood which was part holiday and part business in the interest of the Carmel USO Barn Door Canteen. While there he met Edith Frisbie en route from a rehearsal and looking very well indeed.

Here from Stockton

Miss Bernice Gianelli and her friend, Mrs. Finkbohner, both members of pioneer Stockton families, are paying a visit to Carmel this week, making their headquarters at Colonial Terrace.

It's Lt. Sharpe Now

Mrs. Freda Sharpe returned Sunday from a two weeks' visit with her son, William G. Sharpe, at the Army Air Base in Clovis, New Mexico, where young Lieutenant Sharpe received his wings as a full fledged pilot. He and his B-24 are now stationed at Pueblo Air Base, Colorado, for a brief crew workout.

Pickering's Purchase "Waverley"

Mr. and Mrs. William Pickering, for many years summer visitors to Carmel, have now purchased a home at 10th and Monte Verde, which they have named "Waverley." Mr. Pickering has recently retired from his post as an official of the Du Pont company, in which capacity he was the first West Coast representative of cellophane and spent a number of years in Paris. Their daughter, Elizabeth, now the wife of Captain Harold Helvenston of the U. S. Army Engineer Corps, stationed in Virginia, will arrive shortly from San Francisco for a visit with her parents.

New Association Members

At the July meeting of the Carmel Art association directors, three new members were added to the association: Harry Mist, former resident of Hawaii, Claude Kinnoul and Jules Flobert, examples of whose work have long been familiar to Carmel art lovers.

Louis Nicoud, Jr., son of Capt. and Mrs. Louis Nicoud, Lincoln and Fifth, graduated this week from the Armory School at Lowry Field, Colorado.

Summer Ranchers

Dick Mack and John Todd departed for the H. L. Mack ranch at Leaberg, Oregon, where they will spend their summer vacation helping to solve the farm labor shortage.

Off for Yosemite

W. H. Martin departed Thursday for Yosemite, where he expects to spend the next few months fishing, hunting, camping and hiking about in the big open spaces.

Timmie in Boyland

Mrs. Elizabeth Cass, accompanied by Mrs. Royden Martin, drove to Felton last Monday, to start young Timmie Cass on his two weeks' holiday at Captain Ed's Boyland there.

Elwood Graham Exhibit

Elwood Graham, whose abstract paintings on view in the Carmel Art Gallery won wide attention during the time that he, his artist wife, Barbara Stevens, and their little son lived on the Peninsula, is now residing in Albuquerque, New Mexico. On her recent visit to that city, Mrs. Freda Sharpe found the foyer of the Fine Arts building of the University of New Mexico filled with an exhibit of his new paintings, exciting in their line and color and arousing much favorable comment.

Nancy Covert Announces Engagement

At a luncheon party given last Friday in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Covert of Eighty Acres, Carmel, Miss Nancy Covert announced her engagement to Major Maurice Clavelle Holden, now stationed at Fort Ord with the U. S. Army Engineers. Present for the occasion were Doris Evans, Suzanne Watson, Mrs. Randolph Taylor, Marjorie Wermuth, Edith Cox and Yvonne Welsh.

The formal wedding ceremony, which will take place at St. John's Chapel at Del Monte, is set for the middle of August, and Doris Evans is to be maid of honor. Nancy and her parents have resided in Carmel for the past six years. Now in her sophomore year at the University of California, she has taken a leave of absence from her studies, planning to complete her college course when Major Holden departs for overseas duty.

Major Holden is the son of Mrs. Elsie M. Warner of Cherryvale, Kansas. He graduated in the class of 1940 from the University of Kansas, where he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

Nixon Reunion

The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Nixon at Dolores and Ninth has a definite clan-gathering atmosphere these days. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Doyle (the former Mildred Pearson) arrived from Los Angeles last Monday evening with their son Jimmy, and on Tuesday Mrs. Nixon entertained at tea for her daughter, the guests being old friends with whom Mildred had attended Sunset, high school and Sunday school. Present to greet Mildred and Jimmy were Helen Turner Ricketts, Wilma Bassett McKay and her daughter, Polly, Violet Payne Brookshire, Dorothy Benson Hilbert and her son, Harrison.

Arriving from Petaluma this week were also Sergeant and Mrs. Clifford Betts (Dorothy Nixon). After a three day leave, Sgt. Betts will return to Petaluma to complete arrangements for his transfer into the Air Corps, rejoining Mrs. Betts after the first of the month for a belated honeymoon in Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle are spending the coming weekend in San Leandro, visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moore (the former Margaret Pearson), after which they will return to Carmel for another four days sojourn with the Nixons.

Martinez-Dean House Guests

Visiting Miss Harriet Dean, Mrs. Elsie Martinez and her daughter, Micaela, in their home on Carmel Point this week are Miss Genevieve Sullivan and her mother, Mrs. James Sullivan, both of San Francisco.

Chapel Dedicated

In a simple Protestant service held at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, July 18, the new Navy chapel on Treasure Island, with its mural decorations by Carmel's Micaela Martinez, was formally dedicated. Admiral Hugo Osterhaus and the full staff of Navy chaplains assisting in the ceremony. Before a capacity throng of uniformed men, their families and guests, Admiral Osterhaus gave the new edifice into the keeping of the chaplains, and it was consecrated as a non-denominational chapel, for the worship of all naval men, of every faith.

In addition to a triptych and fourteen decorations for the Stations of the Cross in the small Catholic chapel, Micaela Martinez also designed and painted the nine-foot mural which adorns the altar space in the main chapel—a large figure of the ascending Christ.

The young artist returned on Tuesday to her Carmel Point home, where toward the end of next week she and her mother, Mrs. Elsie Martinez, will be hosts to three members of the Du Casse family, arriving from Cincinnati for a visit: Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Du Casse and a cousin, Miss Inez French.

The wedding plans of Micaela and Staff Sergeant Ralph Du Casse are now awaiting new and interesting plans that Uncle Sam has for the groom-to-be. Sgt. Du Casse left on July 12th for Denver, having been selected, and having successfully passed the examination given at Stanford University for entrance in the Army Special Training Program. For the next months he will be taking studies leading toward a commission, with the possibility of staff duty and participation in post-war reconstruction work, for which his proficiency in both the Italian and German languages peculiarly fits him.

Lt. Kathryn Bier Overseas

First Lieutenant Kathryn Bier, formerly employed in the physical therapy department at the Fort Ord hospital, who made her home in Carmel with Mrs. M. M. Brooks and the latter's two daughters, Sue and Barbara, is off for overseas duty with the U. S. Army Medical Corps. Lt. Bier served as Mrs. Brooks' assistant in forming the first Carmel Red Cross nurses' aide group.

ditions. However, if the tax is eliminated, when the time arrives so that the wall can be built, the reserve will not be sufficient as it is estimated that at least $15,000 will be needed.

The tax rate for this year was $1.32 on the $100. Broken down it consists of 7 cents for the sea wall, 19 cents for the library, 3 cents each on two municipal bonds and $1.00 for the general fund. Best chance for reduction is in the general fund or the sea wall tax, as the library is in need of more rather than less money since the increase in borrowers among the military personnel in town has necessitated the hiring of additional help, and nothing can be done about the 6 cents on the bond issues.

Ronell Wight on Furlough

Corporal Ronell Wight arrived on Sunday to spend a brief leave at the home of his mother, Mrs. H. M. Wight, on Carmel Point. Corp. Wight has been training with the Medical Detachment at Fort Wayne, Indiana, and after his return on July 30th, he will be attached to the Flight Surgeon at Baer Field.

A little bit English, a little bit elegant would be tea served in a set of the lovely copper lusterware just in from England at MERLE'S TREASURE CHEST. We saw creamers, sugar bowls, adorable little tea pots, each with a tea tile, and a candy basket in the collection, all in glowing copper-finish china trimmed with a beautifully contrasting pale blue flowered band.

And for those who don't take tea, a Toby Jug would be a whimsical container for a glass of milk or—beer! You'll find a number of them grinning from the shelves at MERLE'S. "Granny," in Royal Doultonware, heads the list, with a sagacious face and a still gleaming eye; also there are King Henry VIII, "Long John," and several other famous faces in Toby ware.

Much Adverse Criticism Comes from Critic's Effort to Prove Himself Greater Than Artist--Bruno Adriani

symbolism that underlies his vivid impressions of the exterior world, the basis of his style in a lifelong labor toward perfection of form and above all his dedication to the idea that "the conception of the great artist is slow, grave, scrupulous."

One does not have to converse long with Bruno Adriani himself in order to understand his deep interest in the works of Baudelaire. By instinct and training, through a life broadened by wide travel and constant association with artists in many fields and many lands, he, too, thinks in universal terms, places a high value on painstaking perfection of form and feels his liveliest sympathy for the long process of struggle and suffering which alone produces art.

M. Adriani embodies a curious internationality. Born in Westphalia, Germany, he bears an Italian name, has lived for many years in Geneva, Switzerland, making the cultural center of Paris his yearly mecca. He is married to the former Sadie Adler, of Atlanta, Georgia, and for several years now has been an American citizen.

During the Republican regime following World War I, having been educated in both law and art at Munich and Berlin, Bruno Adriani held a government post in the department of Modern Art and Literature, serving as curator of modern museums. In this capacity he supervised all art schools under the auspices of the National Academy, coming in contact with outstanding painters, sculptors, writers and such leading exponents of dramatic art as Max Reinhardt. His was the task of selecting professors, arranging exhibits and concerts and attending the various art expositions throughout Germany, France and other European countries. Through aiding with the problems of state subsidy, he was brought in close contact, too, with scores of young, unknown artists, and made acquainted with their heartbreaking struggles for recognition.

From his eight years' experience in this post, terminated abruptly in 1930 when his lack of affiliation with the National-Socialist party forced his withdrawal to Geneva, Bruno Adriani emerged with very definite ideas about art—and artists. For it is the individual artist in whom M. Adriani feels his keenest interest.

"I am not an art critic," he declares emphatically—though even the most emphatic statement of this quiet, courteous man is uttered gently, drawing its impressiveness rather from the curiously intent, sincere and friendly way he regards his listener from behind those thick lenses. "The more I study art..." for during the days when his headquarters were in Geneva, he continued to travel and observe, "the more I am concerned with the difficult process through which a sensitive person goes in order to create even the simplest piece of art. Much of criticism, especially the adverse, springs from the desire on the part of the critic to prove himself greater than the artist."

It is no lack of fine, discriminating taste that leads Bruno Adriani to recoil from the lay practice of dividing the "good" from the "bad" in art at the drop of the hat. One glance about the Adriani home on Carmel Point uncovers much of lasting beauty—gathered year by year from his travels: shelves filled with complete and rare old editions of the French masters of literature, among them a regal volume of Moliere's works published in 1734; walls revealing here an original by Goya, here a Manet, there a Daumier; and at each turn something new to admire of the sculptor's art.

It is in sculpture that Bruno Adriani takes his greatest aesthetic delight, but here again, his chief interest is in a study of the process of sculpturing, the problems that confront the individual who strives to express himself in bronze or stone, the means of guiding and encouraging him. In former years he has lectured much on these topics, and written much. Among his published works are a richly illustrated volume on the sculptor Philip Harth, examples of whose strong, spiritually unified art adorn the garden and study of the Adriani home. His written works include also "Baudelaire and George" and a volume on "The Reading of French Poetry." Of still greater interest to Carmel, will be the forthcoming "Problems of the Sculptor," written during Bruno Adriani's residence on the Point, and now being published in the Modern Art series by the Nierendorf Gallery of New York.

Yet with all this, M. Adriani modestly disclaims being either a professional writer, lecturer, or above all, an art collector.

"These things which I have gathered," he explains, "are objects to live with and use and study. It is their creation which fascinates me—the imaginative process, what the artist wants to do."

In all that M. Adriani has to say of art, one feels how strong a "friend at court" he is for the artist. He is dissatisfied with the purely historical view of the subject, which he shuns in his own lectures and books, feeling that it has a tendency to overstress movements and influences and all that has to do with the imitative in art. For him the importance lies in the often neglected single artist, striving to contribute his unique and original reaction to the universe. Perhaps his absorption with the sculptor arises somewhat from the fact that the sculptor's problems are the most difficult. He must work longer at his art, and with far more expensive materials. In the six years during which he has lived in the United States he has found it rather more difficult here than in Europe for the artist to gain recognition. Americans are slow, he thinks, to purchase the paintings and sculpturings of an unknown, even though they return again and again to admire these works in an exhibit.

On the subject of Carmel, M. Adriani is glowingly enthusiastic. He and Mrs. Adriani were living in Los Angeles two years ago when a friend urged them to pay a visit to Carmel. They did, and after two days among its scenic beauties, they decided to make this their permanent home.

"Now it is more than Carmel's beauty that makes us want to remain," he declares. "We find it a unique place. Nowhere in Europe did we find a spot more cosmopolitan in spirit, with a more concentrated regard for the spiritual rather than the material achievements of the individual."

daily from 9:30 to 4, Mondays through Fridays. The work is easy and the surroundings pleasant, no uniform or experience is necessary, and it is a part of the war effort that directly benefits the men in the armed services. The present quota is for 1,000 "housewives"—which are small mending kits given to the boys going overseas—1,000 kit bags, 200 pneumonia jackets, 500 hospital bedside bags. Also there is a continual call on the production room for various hospital supplies as they are needed at the station hospitals on the army posts. Carmel Chapter is fortunate in having a number of production workers who give much of their time and effort faithfully every week, but with the increased demands of wartime they cannot do it all. There is room for more helpers every morning and Wednesday afternoon would be an especially good time for a group to meet and work together. Come yourself, and bring your friends.

PROSPECTIVE MOTHERS, ATTENTION!

Mrs. J. Weaver Kitchen, chairman of Home Nursing, is starting a new Red Cross Home Nursing class which will be conducted especially for the benefit of prospective mothers, whether they be from the Army, Navy of civilian life; it will be a course of much benefit to them, and of course anyone interested is invited to join. We suggest that you sign up at once at Red Cross Headquarters on Dolores street between 7th and 8th, as the class is to start Tuesday evening, July 27th at 8 p.m., and will be held on Friday, and Tuesday evenings thereafter at that time. Mrs. James Edwards will be the teacher.

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING DIVISION 1 OF PART 10 OF THE ORDINANCE CODE OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA BY AMENDING SECTION 1012

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. That Section 1012 of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, adopted by the City Council of said City on the 15th day of April, 1940, be and it is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 1012. The City Council shall have the power:

(a) To allow gables, spires, towers, flagpoles, chimneys and tanks to be erected to any height on particular building sites and, where the topography of the ground presents unusual problems and the strict enforcement of the provisions of this Division would work unnecessary hardship, to permit the height of a building to exceed, by not more than ten per centum (10%), the height permitted by other provisions of this Division;

(b) To allow the extension of a use into a more restricted district where the district boundary divides premises in one ownership upon the 6th day of March, 1940;

(c) To allow the construction of a private garage nearer to the front line of the building site than fifteen (15) feet, but not less than eight (8) feet, in cases where a dwelling constructed prior to the 5th day of June, 1929, is so situated on a Building Site that a Private Garage has not been, and cannot be, constructed on said Building Site in compliance with the Front Yard requirements of this Division without great cost and impracticability;

(d) To allow a building or structure to be erected less than fifteen (15) feet, but not less than eight (8) feet, from the front line of any Building Site having a slope greater than a one (1) foot rise in seven (7) feet of run or the topography of which presents other unusual or exceptional difficulties.

(e) To allow buildings or Building Sites to be temporarily put to a use not authorized by the regulations applying to the District within which such buildings or Building Sites are located; provided, however, that such unauthorized use shall not be permitted in the first instance for more than ninety (90) days, nor extended for more than an additional sixty (60) days;

(f) To allow the erection of a private garage on a Building Site, near, but not adjoining, the Building Site on which is situated the dwelling for the convenience of the occupants of which the garage is desired;

(g) To allow the construction and use of Accessory Buildings for purposes not specified by the provisions of Section 988 of this Division.

(h) To allow the construction and use of more than two (2) Accessory Buildings on the same Building Site;

(i) To allow the erection of a building or structure less than fifteen (15) feet, but not less than eight (8) feet, from the front line of any triangular building site having an area of less than four thousand (4000) square feet.

(j) To decrease Yard, Building Site or open space requirements for particular Building Sites by not to exceed ten (10) per centum.

(k) To extend the period during which a Non-Conforming Use in District C-1 or District C-2 may be discontinued without the property owner's losing his right to re-establish such Non-Conforming Use; provided, however, that the total period for which such extensions are granted shall not exceed six (6) months.

(l) To permit private kindergartens or private nursery schools with not over twenty-five (25) pupils, none of whom is over eight (8) years old, in District R-1.

(m) To permit the use of a parcel of land having an area of not less than four thousand (4000) square feet, but which is not a Lot of Record, or in the form of a rectangle, to be used as a Building Site.

(n) To permit churches to be erected on Building Sites in District R-1.

(o) To permit in any of the districts during the present national emergency only the enlargement of the cubical content of a building devoted to a non-conforming use; provided, however, that there first be submitted to the City Council evidence that such enlargement is connected with the war effort or made for the benefit of the armed forces of the United States.

Section 2. The City Clerk or said City is hereby instructed to cause this ordinance to be published once in the CARMEL PINE CONE CYMBAL, the official newspaper of said City, within fifteen (15) days after its final passage and approval.

Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect thirty days after its final passage and approval.

Section 4. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

I, the undersigned, City Clerk of

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING DIVISION 2 OF PART 3 OF THE ORDINANCE CODE OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-SEA BY AMENDING SECTION 454

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1: That Section 454 of The Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, adopted on the 15th day of April, 1940, be and it is hereby amended to read as follows:

"SECTION 454: It shall be unlawful for any person to carry on or practice the business or art of palmistry, life reading, or fortune telling within the corporate limits of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea without first having been issued a license by the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea to practice said business or art of palmistry, life reading, or fortune telling.

"SECTION 454a: Any person desiring to practice the business or art of palmistry, life reading, or fortune telling within the corporate limits of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea shall file a written application with the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea and pay an application fee of $10.00. If the license is granted, said fee shall be refunded, but if the license is not granted said fee shall be forfeited. Such application shall set forth the name, age, and address of the applicant and the cities and towns in which applicant has carried on said business during the last five years preceding the date of the application. Prior to the filing of the application applicant shall cause his finger prints to be taken by the Police Department of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

"SECTION 454b: All applications must be delivered to the City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea together with a certificate from the Police Department of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea certifying that said applicant has been finger printed; the City Clerk shall advise the City Council of the filing of the same at its next regular meeting. The City Council shall thereupon refer the application to the Chief of Police, who shall investigate the applicant's character and fitness to carry on the business or art of palmistry, life reading, or fortune telling and report his findings in writing to the City Clerk within thirty days.

"SECTION 454c: The City Council shall within five weeks after reference to the Chief of Police of said application set a date for a public hearing upon said application, which may be at either a regular or a special meeting. Notice of said hearing shall be mailed to the applicant at his address five days prior to the date fixed by said City Council for such hearing.

"SECTION 454d: At the time and place set for such hearing, or at any time and place the same may be continued, the City Council shall hear all persons interested and shall give to the applicant every opportunity to present whatever evidence he desires to produce on behalf of his application. If necessary, the City Council may, without closing the hearing, adjourn from time to time, until the hearing is concluded. The City Council shall render a decision within thirty days after the conclusion of the hearing. The City Council may refuse to issue any license applied for unless it is made to appear that the applicant is of good moral character and a fit and proper person to engage in the business or art of palmistry, life reading, or fortune telling.

"SECTION 454e: If the City

Council finds that the applicant is a fit and proper person to practice the art or business of palmistry, life reading, or fortune telling, it shall authorize the City Tax and License Collector to issue a license upon payment of the license tax in the sum of $100.00 per year.

SECTION 2: The City Clerk of the said City is hereby instructed to cause this Ordinance to be published once in the CARMEL PINE CONE CYMBAL, the official newspaper of said city, within fifteen days after its final passage and approval.

SECTION 3: All resolutions, ordinances, and parts of ordinances in conflict with this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 4: This Ordinance is hereby declared to be urgent and necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety and shall take effect and be in full force from and after its final passage and approval. The following is a statement of such urgency: The circumstances of a state of war has brought into Carmel-by-the-Sea hundreds of soldiers, sailors, and their families; that the business of palmistry, life reading, and fortune telling requires special attention to prevent deception and imposition upon the general public and the members of the armed forces of the United States and their families, who visit the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, and therefore said Ordinance is required to preserve the public peace and safety. I, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 36 N. S., which was given its first reading at a regular meeting of the City Council of Carmel-by-the-Sea held on the 7th day of July, 1943, and finally adopted at an adjourned regular meeting of the said City Council held on the 16th day of July, 1943. I further certify that upon its passage the foregoing Ordinance was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

PETER MAWDSLEY,
City Clerk.
